

Gender Pay Gap Report – Stoke-on-Trent City Council – 2023

Introduction and Purpose

Gender Pay Reporting Legislation requires employers with 250 or more employees to publish statutory calculations annually showing how large the pay gap is between their male and female employees.

Stoke-on-Trent City Council (the 'Council') is therefore required under these Regulations to annually publish details of its gender pay gap, specifically the difference in average female earnings compared to average male earnings.

This Gender Pay Gap Report sets out the Council's gender pay gap for 2023. The deadline date for publication is required annually by the 30 March.

What do we have to report on?

Mean gender pay gap - The difference between the hourly pay of male full-pay relevant employees and that of female full-pay relevant employees.

Median gender pay gap - The difference between the median hourly pay of male full-pay relevant employees and that of female full-pay relevant employees.

Mean bonus gap - The difference between the mean bonus pay paid to male relevant employees and that paid to female relevant employees.

Median bonus gap - The difference between the median bonus pay paid to male relevant employees and that paid to female relevant employees.

Bonus Proportions - The proportions of male and female relevant employees who were paid bonus pay during the relevant period.

Quartile pay bands - The proportions of male and female full-pay relevant employees in the lower, lower middle, upper middle and upper quartile pay bands.

Bonus Pay Gap

Stoke-on-Trent City Council does not operate any bonus scheme and therefore has no Bonus Gender Pay Gap

Proportion of male and female employees in each quartile of the Council

Our workforce covers a wide range of roles across the Council and all are paid as per the council's pay scales for each grade.

Quartile	Upper Quartile	Upper Middle	Lower Middle	Lower Quartile
Male	32%	31%	41%	29%
Female	68%	69%	59%	71%

Our quartile percentages show that there are more women in each quartile, which falls in line with the gender split across the council as a whole.

In summary, there is no difference between the pay of men and women employed at the Council in the same or equivalent roles as we have a job evaluation mechanism which ensures equal pay.

The council is committed to ensuring that our employees are rewarded fairly for their contributions, regardless of gender. The council offers its employees a wide range of flexible working options to enable them to effectively manage their work/life balance.

The council appoints to roles based on merit regardless of age, disability, gender reassignment, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation, marriage and civil partnership (employment only).

However, it is recognised that some of the higher pay groups are under-represented by our female workforce, which has contributed to a pay gap in favour of our male employees. We aim to close this gap, through our work on our Workforce and Organisational Strategy we continue to provide transparency in promotion, pay and reward processes, offering a range of workforce development opportunities and flexible working opportunities.

Over the past 12 months we have appointed an Equality, Diversity and Inclusion officer who has been working to improve the under-representation of staff from protected characteristics across the organisation. This has included reviewing and relaunching our menopause policy, setting up our Menopause and Perimenopause Network, developing an Equalities Board, appointing a strategic sponsor for gender equality and developing and sharing resources on all the protected characteristics.

The Council remains committed to ensuring that our workforce reflect the make-up of the communities we serve as much as possible.
